IMITATE GOD
SAYS PASTOR

Not a Sacrilege if in the Right
Manner, Says Rev. T. J.
Parsons.

"Shall a poor worm of the dust, whose every breath and heart-throb is dependent upon the Creator, attempt to imitate the great God of the universe?" was the question put before the congregation at Quincy Street Baptist church Sunday evening by the pastor, Rev. T. J. Parsons, in his sermon on the subject "God's Imitators." He spoke of imitators of God and the statues used by people as their representatives of honor and purity.

"For years this text has been burning itself into my heart and mind. At first it startled me and I almost shrank from it, because it appeared to me to require the utter impossible. No man hath seen God at any time; He has no comparison in creation, and He forbids any imaginary conception of Him to be fashioned. There are statues galore purporting to represent heathen gods, but who can imitate that which he has never seen for himself and no other human being has seen?"

"We might shrink from this command also as bordering on the sacrilegious. Is it for the created to claim equality with the Creator? Such pretension would be considered high treason even by an earthly monarch, how much more by the Almighty."

Race of Imitators.
"The sacred writer has no thought of being irreverent, but simply appeals to a well-known human propensity. We are a race of imitators. We are influenced by others; we pattern after them and copy their faults or their excellencies. There is nothing new under the sun. The great masters in music, painting and sculpture are being diligently studied today by the faithful pupils. The same is true in architecture, education and law; and the apostle says it is a good thing in religion. It is remarkable when we stop to think of it, how much we are all given to this practice of imitation. It is a matter of comment that when Billy Sunday labors in a new territory, immediately there springs up an army of vest pocket editions of Billy Sunday. The only objection to this is that they usually imitate the poor qualities rather than the good ones, and mimic instead of imitate the great evangelist."

"The apostle also appeals to a rare privilege. Be ye imitators of God? When the masters have been excelled nature is copied. Paul does not say imitate me; for who is Paul, or Peter, or Appollous? All human characters fail. He would have us hitch our wagon to a star. Yes, even better than that, he commands us to studiously copy God. One time a man to whom I was speaking about salvation objected with the stereotyped excuse of hypocrites in the church. I asked, what have you against Jesus Christ? and he was compelled to confess that he could find no fault in Jesus. He is our model who is the express image of the Father, and in whom dwelt all the fulness of the Godhead bodily."

"We are instructed to imitate God as beloved children. There is nothing of art or affectation in a child, but everything is natural and spontaneous. Some traits and characteristics are inherited through having the same nature, and others are acquired by association, study and choice. This is beautifully true of the Christian, God's child, and it is our blessed privilege to grow into the likeness of our Lord and Father. Would not more people love Him if we were better imitators of His love and peace, His forgiveness and mercy?"

ROCHESTER PASTOR
GIVES THREE SERMONS

Rev. George C. Pullman Speaks at First Evangelical Church
Sunday.

Rev. George C. Pullman of Rochester, Ind., spoke at three services Sunday at the First Evangelical church. At the regular morning service he spoke on the subject "Failures in Discipleship." He said a disciple must be called and must have power, must be taught and must be sent.

"Failure in discipleship is caused by lack of faith," he said, "by lack of patience, unbelief, uncharitableness and lack of readiness."

"Demands of Amusements" was the subject of Rev. Pullman at the afternoon services for the young people of the church in which he related the proper and improper amusements.

"All of nature desires amusements and men should seek good amusement rather than those that are harmful to them. Before we accept amusements we should first test them out to see if they are those that will help or do damage to the person. We should determine whether or not we can afford to waste the time on them."

SHOWS POWER OF THE HOLY SPIRIT

Rev. J. L. Gardiner Says it
Was Best for Disciples
That Christ Ascended.

"The Ascension of Christ," was the theme discussed Sunday morning at the St. Paul's M. E. church by Rev. James L. Gardiner, D. D. He based his sermon on the words recorded in the gospel of St. Luke: "And it came to pass while He blessed them, He was parted from them and carried up into heaven."

Dr. Gardiner, in part, said: "The purpose of the ascension of Christ is twofold."

"First, Jesus Christ ascended into heaven that He might give to His disciples and the world a greater blessing than His continued bodily presence. That greater blessing was the gift of the Holy Ghost. When Jesus was nearing the end of His life He said to His disciples: 'It is expedient for you that I go away, for if I do not go away, the Comforter will not come; but if I go I will send Him unto you.' Jesus ascended into heaven that He might send the Holy Spirit, who is the Comforter."

Spirit is Everywhere.
"Jesus Christ in His bodily presence could be but in one place, at the same time, but today by His spirit He is everywhere present. It was therefore better for the disciples and for the world to lose the visible bodily presence of Jesus in order that they might have the continual presence of His invisible spirit."

"What was the secret of the wonderful success of the early church? Was it organization? No. They knew little or nothing about organization. Was it eloquence? No. They were not eloquent men. Was it learning? No. They were not trained in university or college. What, then, was the secret of their power? It was because they had the presence of the invisible Christ—the Holy Spirit. Jesus had said to His disciples at Pentecost: 'Ye shall receive power after the Holy Ghost is come upon you.'"

"In the second place it was necessary that Christ ascend up into heaven that He might prepare a place for His disciples after they had finished the work which He had given them to do. Jesus foretold why it was best for Him to go on the night in which He was betrayed when He said: 'I go to prepare a place for you and if I go to prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto Myself, that where I am, there ye may be also.'"

Notre Dame News
Very Rev. Andrew Morrissey, C. S. C., provincial of the Holy Cross congregation, will deliver the principal address at the commencement exercises of the Central Catholic high school, Fort Wayne, which will be held at Liberty hall Thursday evening, June 13. It is expected that Bishop Herman J. Aldinger of Fort Wayne will be well enough to preside at the exercises and address the assembly.

The university band gave its last Sunday evening concert on the porch of the administration building last evening under the direction of Prof. Frank Derrick.

DESCRIBES WORK OF THE CHAPEL CARS

Mrs. J. C. Killigan Tells of Evangelization Carried on in Past Six Years.

The work of the chapel cars that are owned and operated by the American Baptist Publication society was the subject of an address at the First Baptist church last night by Mrs. J. C. Killigan, who, with her husband, has spent the past six years on the car named "Evangelist."

The first car was put into commission in May, 1891. The last was built in 1915. In the few years that these cars have been in operation 200 churches have been organized and over 22,000 individuals have confessed Christ.

In "Evangelist" over 60 churches have been organized. This is the record of the last 50 months of service. Sermons preached 2,188; families visited, 3,993; Bibles distributed, 195; tracts distributed, 28,975; conversions, 892; pastors settled, 19; church buildings erected, 5.

A chapel car is erected at the cost of $21,000 and has a seating capacity in the church of 100. It carries a loan library of 175 volumes. It has every modern convenience both in the living quarters of the missionaries and in the church. It carries its own lighting and hot water heating system and is equipped with every safety device required by the interstate commerce commission. The cost of maintaining a chapel car is $2,500 a year.

"All of nature desires amusements and men should seek good amusement rather than those that are harmful to them. Before we accept amusements we should first test them out to see if they are those that will help or do damage to the person. We should determine whether or not we can afford to waste the time on them."

"We might shrink from this command also as bordering on the sacrilegious. Is it for the created to claim equality with the Creator? Such pretension would be considered high treason even by an earthly monarch, how much more by the Almighty."

DARIO RESTA-STINSON
RACE IS CALLED OFF

Driver Then Does Few Laps in Local Car Against Time—Girl
Flies a Little.

From a spectator's viewpoint the much touted race between Dario Resta and Miss Katherine Stinson at Springfield yesterday afternoon was a "frost" and last night some men were willing to wager that Resta had not even been in South Bend, but that he was still in Chicago.

Long before the race was scheduled to start, the street cars had carried thousands to the park. Along the bank of the river across from the race track, a large crowd had gathered and in the grandstand there was but little room left.

At 3 o'clock it was announced that owing to Resta's car becoming disabled at Chicago Saturday, he would use one belonging to Dr. J. L. Callahan of this city. Dr. Callahan was to ride with the racer.

At 3:30 o'clock Miss Stinson started her machine, and after circling above the park for a few minutes and looping the loop, she alighted in a nearby field. It was then announced that the wind was too strong for her to get in the race track enclosure and the race was called off.

The next announcement from the megaphoned orator was to the effect that the famous Resta would race against time.

The spectators prepared to see something in the way of speed and the little machine started. After a couple of laps the driver stopped in front of the grandstand. He had gone about 30 miles an hour.

He had raced against time, 'tis true, but it seemed to those who watched him that it was against eastern time.

LINCOLN DAY FOUNDER
DIES IN CHICAGO

Dr. Hubert N. Skinner, Son of One of the Builders of Valparaiso School.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Dr. Hubert N. Skinner, educator, author and lecturer, died at his home here Sunday from cancer of the stomach.

Dr. Skinner was born at Valparaiso, Ind., in 1855, and was a son of one of the founders of Valparaiso university. Aside from his extensive literary and educational work, Dr. Skinner was noted as the originator of the Lincoln day celebration and for 25 years was head of the Teachers' National Reading circle movement.

SENTIMENT STRONG FOR WEST INDIES PURCHASE

Traveler from Islands Says Residents Favor United States
Buying Lands.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Sentiment favoring the purchase by the United States of the Danish West Indies is decidedly pronounced among the residents of the islands, according to F. T. Noble of New York, a passenger on the steamship Guinea from the West Indies.

The strike at St. Croix of employees of sugar plantations was settled, Mr. Noble asserted by the payment of ten cents per day additional to the men—wages being increased from 25 cents to 35 cents (gold) per day.

FIVE SHOT BY NEGRO

Meets Posse With Fusillade of Bullets.

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 3.—Five people were shot here Saturday following an alleged attack by a negro upon Mrs. A. A. Robertson at her home in Lexington's exclusive residential section. The police claim that the Negro, who is as yet unidentified, shot Mrs. Robertson through the neck, seriously wounding her. The police were notified and with a posse of citizens entered the home.

They were met with a fusillade of shots from the Negro's gun. Detective James Stewart received a considerable fatal wound, while Frank Corbin and W. J. Gilsdorf, both prominent citizens, were seriously wounded. The posse returned the fire and the Negro dropped with several bullets through his body. He is reported dying.

GO WHERE THE CROWDS GO

LUTHERANS ATTEND ORPHANS' FESTIVAL

Thirtieth Annual Celebration of Evangelical Branch Held at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 3.—Large delegations of evangelical Lutherans from Lafayette, Anderson, Cicero, Arcadia, Columbus, Fort Wayne and other Indiana towns attended the 30th annual orphans' festival Sunday at the Evangelical Lutheran Orphans' home, East Washington and LaSalle sts.

Members of the financial committee said funds received during the day for the support of the home, would exceed those contributed at the festival a year ago. Orphans and their care from the early days, was discussed in an address in the afternoon by G. V. Schick of Concordia college, Fort Wayne, Ind.

The sermon in the morning was delivered by the Rev. F. H. Eggers of Seymour, Ind. Music was given in the morning by the choir from the Evangelical Lutheran church at Lafayette, Ind., and in the afternoon a musical program was given by a choir from Columbus, Ind.
